WACHTER CHANGES MIND MAIL CLERKS RE-ELECT ABOUT POSTAL INQUIRY

Marylander Tired of Works McCoy Chosen President Comptroller Gives Opinion Former Postal Inspector Gives Bail ing for a Reputation.

Representative Complains of Treatment Additional Authority Granted Claims Declines to Answer Questions Put by Accorded Him for Past Efforts.

(Special to The Washington Times.) BALTIMORE, Sept. 17.—Representative Frank C. Wachter, of the Third Maryland district, has changed his mind about the question of introducing a resolution at the coming session of Congress to investigate each department of the Government. When it was exclusively announced in The Washington Times that Mr. Wachter intended to introduce such a resolution the matter attracted widespread attention and received favorable comment in papers in all sections of the

Mr. Wachter said today: "I said and repeat that if a resolution to investigate all the departments is introduced I will vote for it and give it my support. But I have about decided not to introduce such a resolution myself.

Hard Work Involved.

"There is a great deal more work and resolution of the kind than the public imagines, and it is for that reason more than anything else that I will let some other fellow do the introducing. Yes, know that if I were to father the resolution it would bring me before the pub-He in a prominent manner, but I am tired of working for a reputation,

"Three terms in Congress have taught me that records do not go with the public, and the fact that a man is famous or well known does not in many cases get him the support of even those for losing the association's charter. whom he has accomplished the most. I secured the passage of the bill to dredge Spring Gardens in Baltimore, but how much appreciation was shown by the people of the city?

"The appropriation means thousands of dollars in the pockets of the people along the Spring Gardens waterfront and all of them will derive a direct or indirect benefit, yet they were the people who voted and worked against me when I ran for another office.

Would Not Use Strength.

"To spend my time and energies work ing on and for a resolution that might alt in a betterment of the conditions in the Government service would bring claims presented, which did not rightly may be advanced to said justices for me no credit or support from people who come under the spirit of the laws. oppose me, and would not strengthen my position, and I have too many other irons in the fire to expend my energies in that way.

"If, however, some one else wants to do the work I will support the resolution, for I believe that every department should be as clean as possible and there is room for improvement."

The announcement that Mr. Wachter had intended to introduce his resolution was of great interest to politicians of both the Democratic and Republican parties, and there has been much speculation upon the prospects of a sweep ing resolution for a general investigation getting through Congress.

The general comment among practical politicians has been that it is too near a Presidential campaign for any move of a radical nature to be adopted. Some VINCENT BOREING DIES Democrats are apt to try to make capital out of an investigation, but it is not believed that any Republican Representative of prominence can be in duced to go into the enterprise, and the Only Republican Among State's Repre- Sherman Statue Unveiling Ceremonies statement from Mr. Wachter that he has abandoned his intentions along that line will be a relief to numerous politicians, as well as officeholders.

"When Grape-Nuts was first put upon the market it seemed from its description that it was just what I required and had been waiting for, so I began its use and began to improve immediately. I kept up the use of Grape-Nuts, growing stronger and better until my stomach finally recovered entirely, and today I can digest any kind of foed without I can digest any kind of food without trouble.
